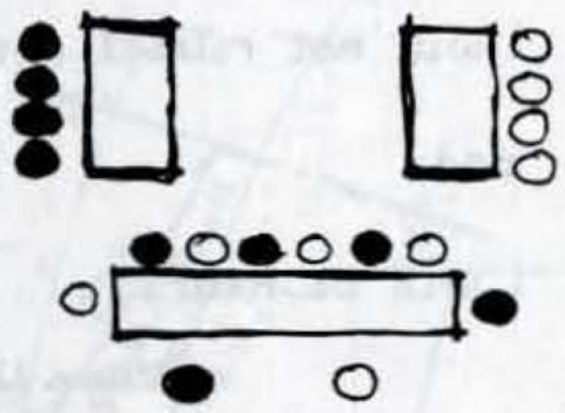
IN VINO VERITAS

This extravaganza is divided into three parts : The Throat Wound, The Back Wound and the Three Head Wounds JFK received in Dallas.



An alternative to Plan Chicago's 4-man team-scrum,'til death us do part, Plan Ivory Tower has an 8-man CONSENSUS judge the three parts' answer to the question :

HAS PRIVATE RESEARCH IMPROVED
ON BETHESDA's AUTOPSY REPORT ??

Taking the affirmative, AIC, a woman, is opposed by JAMA, a man content with Warren Commission Exhibit 397. Each advocate is limited to one five-minute presnetation and one one-minute rebuttal for each part.

Using cards numbered from 1 (Nay) to 10 (YEAH!), each judge, being careful with 6 and 9, displays his assessment of the answer to each part at its conclusion.

Averaging, tabulating and demonstrating are AP : Audience Participation, to be conducted in silence until the judges' eight cards are all properly displayed. Thereupon demonstrations are welcome. To that end, the bar is closed until after the Last Judgment....which signals Commencement Q & A, informally,of course.

That IN VINO they may be nuzzled by VERITAS, the ten actors on the stage enjoy drinks on the house.

And now AIC and Gentlemen, please take your places so JAMA, having won the toss may lead off. Marlene, please pass the schnapps. →

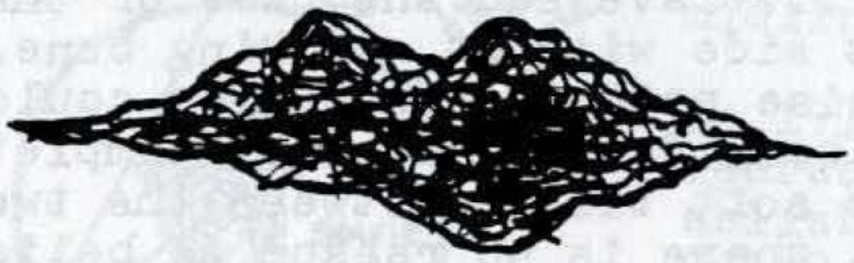
THROAT WOUND

JAMA : Gentlemen, the Throat Wound was inflicted by a bullet fired from above and behind the limousine. The Dallas tracheostomy

....obliterated this wound of exit through the front of his neck hear the Adam's apple ... its exit track was not immediately apparent .... the tracheostomy was a gaping wound about 3 to 4 centimeters around and we didn't think of it as an exit wound ...we also noted damage to the neck muscles, trachea and pleura but there was no bullet ....



It bothered the doctors that the Throat Wound had no track to it and no bullet could be found.

.... by midnight our task was done .... the second bullet was important ... we knew we would find the explanation sooner or later ... the light came on when we talked to Dr Perry .... of course the bullet had exited through the neck

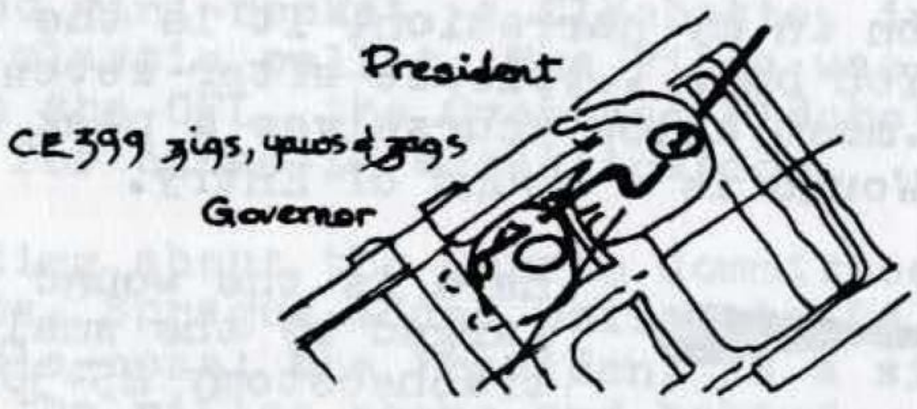
....referring to Dr Crenshaw's contention that the wound .... was small and round after the tracheostomy was performed.... the only possible explanation is that the neck wound was intentionally enlarged while the body was en route from Dallas and the insinuation of this scenario does not deserve response .....

Once the light was on and the track decided,

....the missile contused the strap muscles ....damaged the trachea and made its exit through the anterior surface of the neck .... struck no bony structures in its path through the body ....

During their Warren Commission testimony the doctors saw the President's clothing for the first time.

... the holes in the back of the ...jacket ...shirt and the nicks on his shirt collar ...and knot of his necktie, the path of the second bullet was confirmed .... I believe in the single-bullet theory that it struck Governor Connally immediately after exiting the President's throat ....



[the audience is asked to remain silent until its turn to demonstrate]

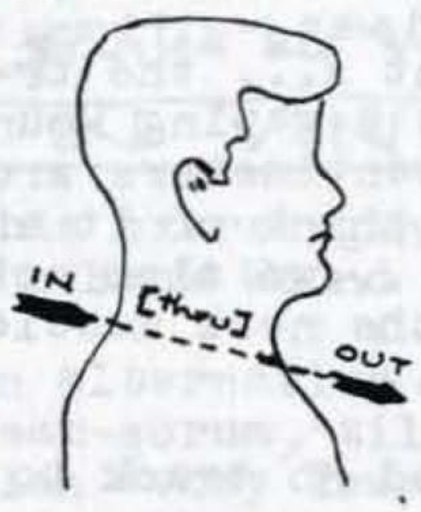
The doctors, working with an artist, made careful drawings which "met the purposes of the Warren Commission". In 1968 a panel of experts evaluated the original autopsy report.



... one [bullet] ...traversed the base of the neck on the right side without striking bone... although the precise path of the bullet could have undoubtedly been demonstrated by complete dissection of the soft tissue between the two cutaneous wounds, there is no reason to believe that the information disclosed thereby would alter significantly the conclusions expressed in this report....

In 1977 the House Select Committee on Assassinations' medical panel [scientifically] confirmed this autopsy report. Thus it is noteworthy that two government-sponsored reviews were unanimous in their approval of the doctors' autopsy report.

In conclusion gentlemen, private research, confused by the Dallas tracheostomy's obliteration of the Throat Wound, has not improved one iota on the autopsy report's finding this throat wound is indeed one of Exit. Thank you.

Ten years ago I wrote a letter to the editor of a newsletter..was it in Wyoming? ...saying Reagan was a Nincompoop.

When the editor publised his reply titling it Noncompoopsia, it started my wondering why anyone would bother to assassinate a nincompoop and from there I worked my way back thru the Mall, the Bridge, the Pantry, the Bushy Knoll and got myself stuck on the Grassy Knoll. I'm not moving off it until I know all the truths it knows.

I have met all the people I mention in my narration. It is the truth the whole truth as I believe it. You boys ...please after seventy-nine, it's all boys and girls ....must allow yourselves a peek as it is today and forever: The Throat Wound is a Wound of Entry.

here is the small, round, clean wound 4-7 mm in diameter here is the wound enlarged by the small tracheostomy 25-30 mm.

In 1969 Dr J Nichols' Shaw trial testimony showed how impossible it was for CE 399 to exit the throat at midline at Z-210: the spine, like yours, mine and his, is in the way ... because the wound was only 2" from midline ...at 3" the spine is cleared.

In 1974, C B Sharrett and R E Sprague, researching JFK's hand-waving motions, established the Throat Wound's hit-frame at Z-189.

Last month, enhancing subconscious Earth-data into conscious truth, I fine-tuned Z-189 to Z-187. Anyone can do the same thing, if they want to.

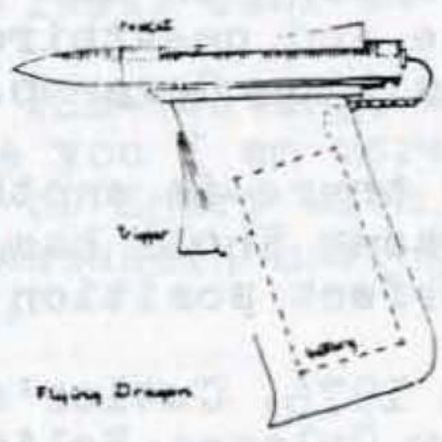
In 1975, R B Cutler convinced Sharrett and Sprague the Umbrella Man's umbrella was a weapon. L F Prouty suggested a self-propelled mini-rocket, a flêchette, in place of the plastic pellet. The Piece was modified into the OFL, the Overhead Flêchette Launcher, for close-in assassination.



Reading about the Church Committee's poison darts, Sprague added poison to La Flêchette's needle-nose: the President is a sitting duck for the rifles above and behind.

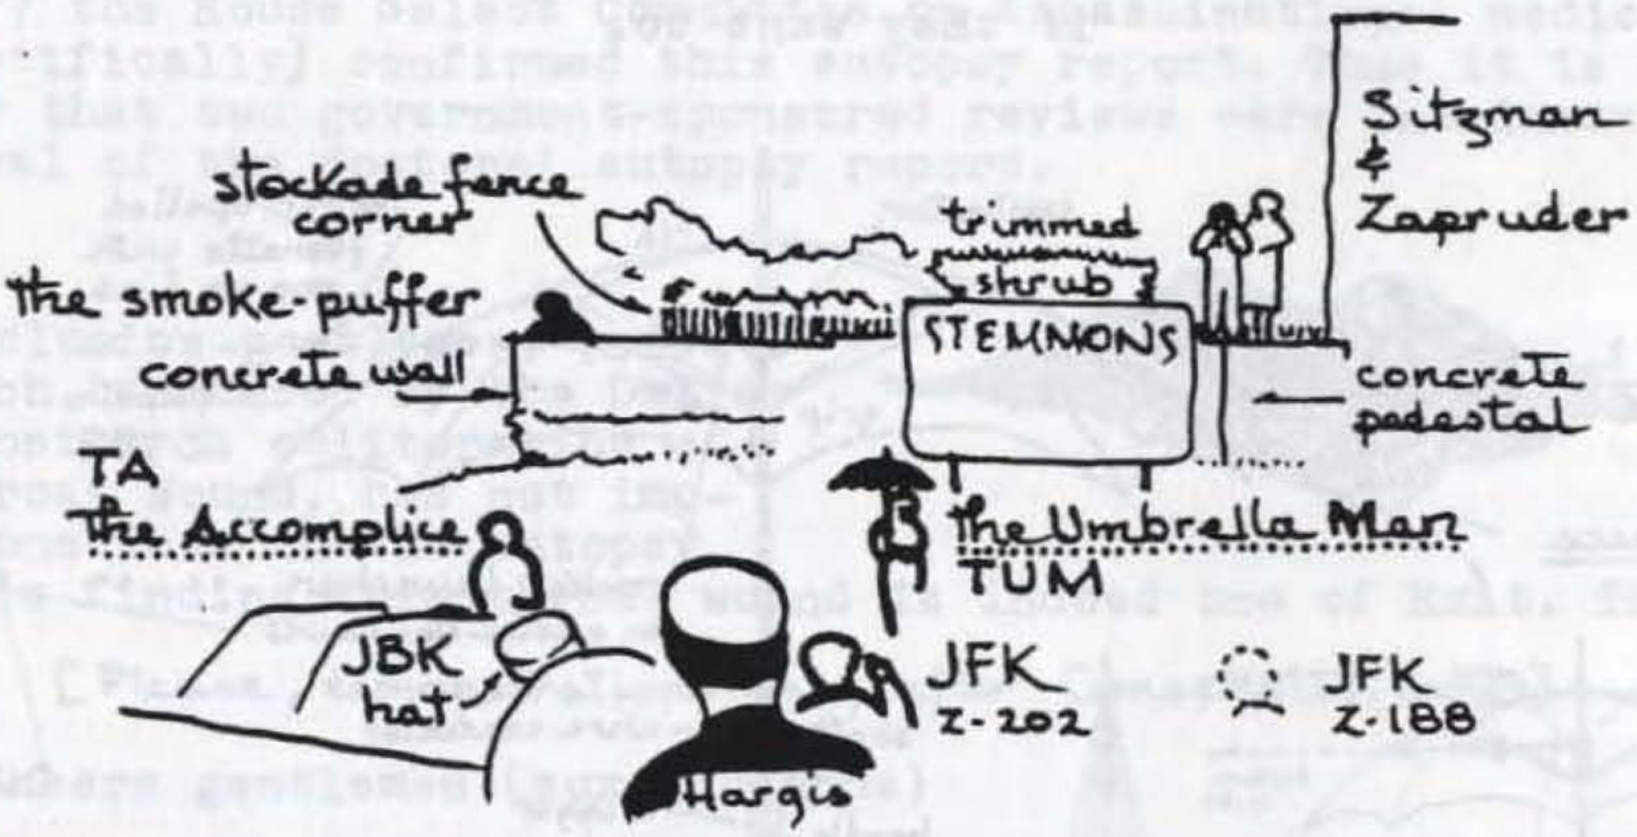
This 1978 drawing shows the impossibility of accurately tracking, aiming & firing anything into the throat from behind the grassy knoll's stockade fence... positions A & B ..

M Sitzman and A Zapruder, shrubbery and the sidewalk spectators add to the visual block of the Stemmons roadsign: they are all in the way, the way the spine is.



Only the trachea is damaged; there is no wound of exit. A bullet at 63 yards will do much more damage to the neck than was found at autopsy. It then follows, that to inflict the Throat Wound of Entry the shooter must be on the limousine side of Stemmons.

Here, 5/6ths of a second after launching, La Flechêtte and two and a half hours after the rain has stopped, is The Umbrella Man, TUM, standing on the grassy knoll, the OFL still open and over his head. One and one-third seconds later, TUM starts to return the OFL to position Coverup.

If there is another explanation to this ludicrous performance, the Grassy Knoll has not levelled with me. The Umbrella Man is in the perfect position to inflict the Throat Wound at Z-187. Who is TUM?

In 1976, Cutler's chance comparison of a Bothun 4 blowup and a New Orleans Police Dept mugshot, published in Coverup, indicated the photos were of the same man. Photographer J White convinced himself they actually were, despite the four-year span between. →

In the last week of that same year, HSCA's Chief Counsel invited Sprague, Sharrett and Cutler to brief HSCA Staff on their research. In a five-hour slide show, TUM and Conspiracy were not neglected. Someone, realizing Counsel was on track to uncover Conspiracy, alerted the Central Intelligence Agency. Three months later both Counsel and Chair HSCA resigned under pressure.

In 1977 Sprague and Cutler identified TUM to HSCA staff. Cutler repeated the ID twice to Chair JFK SubCommittee.

His umbrella with too many ribs was opened up inside out before the Committee and everyone laughed the Umbrella Man Theory of a flêchette wounding the President in the throat out the window.

Gentlemen, Consensus-makers, Boys ... you have the heaven-sent opportunity to act out he who laughs last, laughs last. Goof it not.

In 1979 Cutler met the man he believes is TUM. PSE-testing, at TUM's suggestion, only reinforced the ID. Prouty has said that there may have been thirty people who knew about flêchettes in 1963. It is now known that one of them is in the body of the assassinated President. Do you now understand why the body was barrelled out of Parkland, flown out of the reaches of Texas law and helicoptered into the comfort of Bethesda's pre-arranged Pre-Autopsy Surgery?

D S Lifton's 1980 unveiling of P-A S, unwittingly confirmed by H E Livingstone in 1992, explained how the secret missile was spirited out of the President's throat. Those who see La Flêchette's "exit-wound" as a tracheostomy need only imagine the haste and terror of the operation Dr Crenshaw assessed :

.... it looked to be the work of a butcher....

This butchery, covering up a tiny wound of entry and a professional tracheostomy, is the Single-Bullet Theory's best friend. →

About five years ago, Cutler, listening to White tell how he thinks TFUM, The False Umbrella Man HSCA mounted to slay the Throat Wound Dragon, looks a great deal like TUM, The Umbrella Man in Dealey Plaza, saw the light come on during the call from Ft Worth.

TUM's alibi, heretofore incomprehensible, was illuminated.

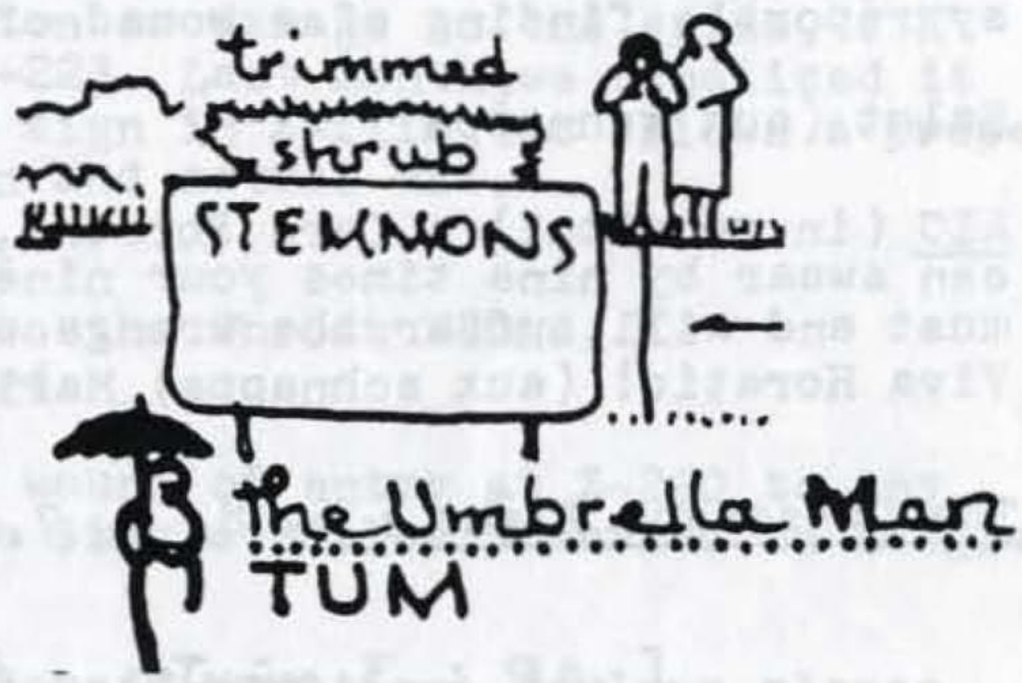
Schnapps all around, Boys...you'll need it more than I. Thank you Marlene.

TFUM testifies he was in Dealey Plaza but didn't see the President go by becuase he was having trouble opening his bumbershoot.

TUM says he was in New York City at a business lunch and was not in Dealey Plaza and didn't see the President go by.

White's observance of look-alike is unquestioned.



You all know the Oswald look-alike stories. Some of you may even know Jack Ruby murdered A J Hidell, alias Oswald. If you will but listen there is Veritas bubbling up in the vino.

The false umbrella man, using the real umbrella man's name lunches at Toot Shorr's while the real umbrella man launches La Flêchette into the President's throat in Dealey Plaza.

Yahoo and Tickety-Boo, that's two more than Catch 22.

Private research has improved on the autopsy report by uncovering P-A S, Pre-Autopsy Surgery which leads directly into the doctors being ordered to report a tracheostomy obliterating an exit wound. Small wonder the first draft notes were burned. If Conspiracy is a dirty word for the media, Coverup is something I do not say in mixed company.

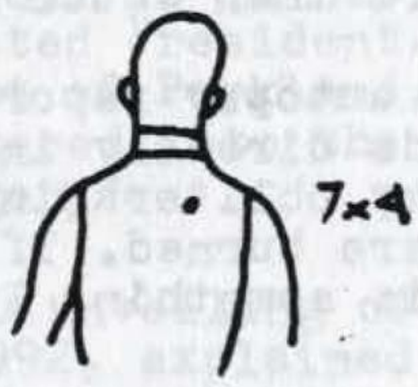
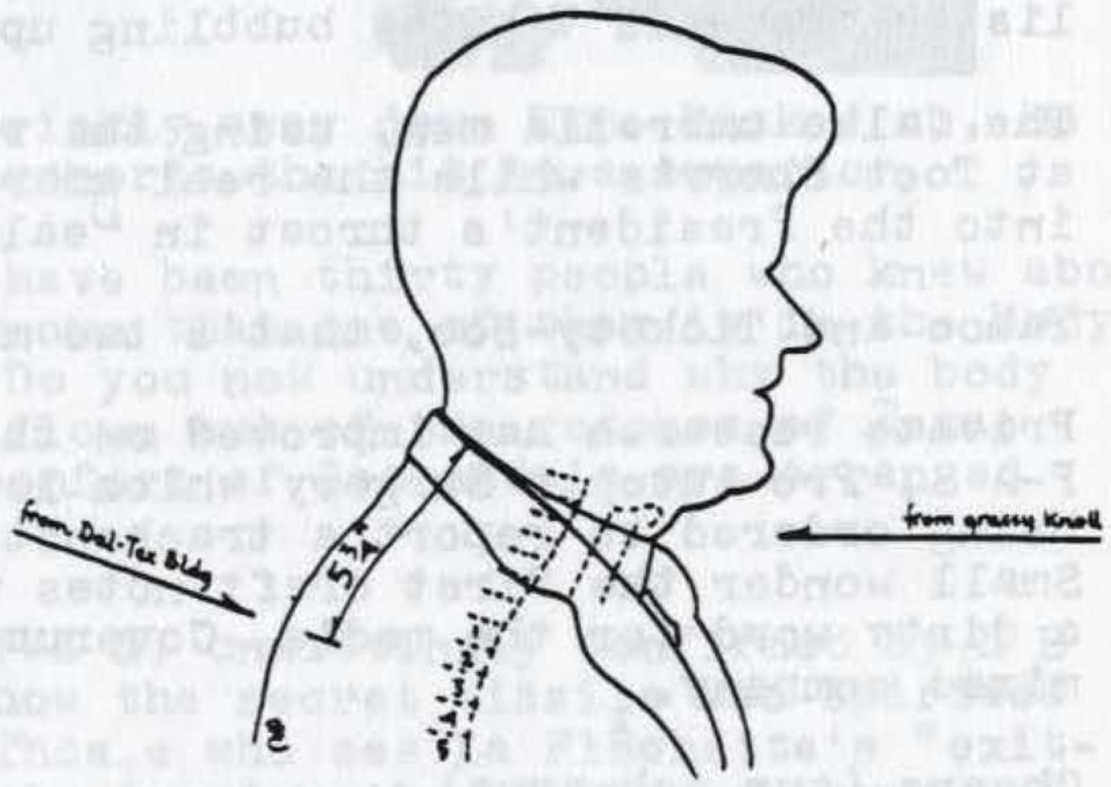
The Back Wound is a wound of Entry. It is not a Neck Wound with an exit wound making a through wound, which some coroners count as a single wound.



The spine prevents the bullet from traversing the neck.



The Autopsy Descriptive Sheet locates the Back Wound reasonably close to the shirt and jacket holes ... about at the level of the 3rd thoracical vertebra.

BACK WOUND: the 2nd wound of ENTRY, occurred at Z-226 at about level of 3rd thoracic vertebra

The abraision collar is offset to the left, indicating a bullet from the Records or Dal-Tex Buildings. Sprague was told a man was given immunity and safe-conduct out of the country in return for his Orleans Parish Grand Jury testimony he had fired two shots at the motorcade from the Dal-Tex.

Since 1970, Sprague and Cutler have located this back-wounder on the roof and in second and seventh-floor windows. Last week, Penelope and I placed him on the third floor, where E M Brown jr had him in 1975.

In 1970, Sprague's C&A article has the hit-frame at Z-226. In 1981, noting raised arms as the Thorburn reaction to damage to the spine, J K Lattimer moves the hit-frame to Z-223. Last month, we finalized it at Z-220. Though it is behind the sign in Z-film, it allows a proper lead-time between visible reaction and actual hit.

At P-A S, Lifton's discovery, Pre-Autopsy Surgery, the Back Wound bullet was replaced with a Carcano, a pre-fired Carcano. This Coverup detail paid off later.

My question is : Why did it take eleven and a half hours to illuminate the physically impossible neck-traverse? almost half a day??

Formal autopsy ends at midnight; the doctors assist in preparing the body for funeral. Humes arrives home about Ø53Ø, Saturday. The neck-traverse light comes on two hours later during his call to Perry in Dallas.

Imagine you are Humes. You and two other doctors find four wounds at autopsy. The anterior neck wound is 65mm wide, gaping and irregular. Having heard Dr Perry on TV tell about performing a tracheostomy, you three agree that rigor mortis enlarged this hasty attempt to save the President's life.

You reject someone's tampering with the body prior to its delivery to autopsy as preposterous.

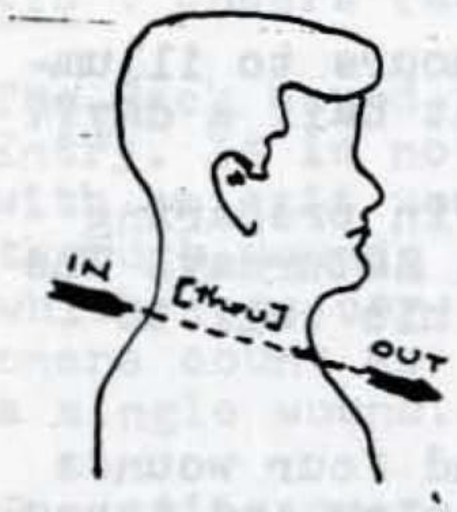
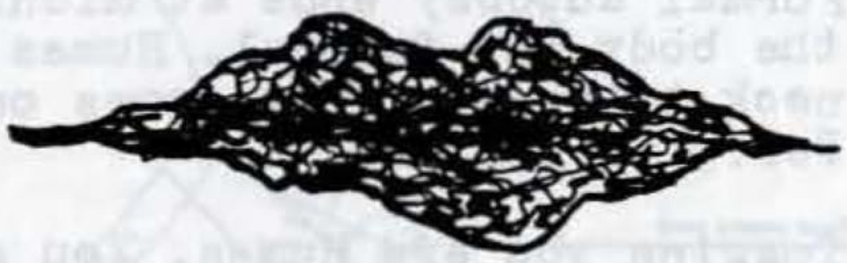
Of course they are two of the thirty who know about flêchettes. They want to be sure 1) Humes asks for no poison tests and 2) his report will not reflect La Flêchette's Throat Wound of Entry in any way, shape or manner.



They suggest Humes join the Back and Throat Wounds, setting up the Neck-Traverse,allowing the butchering to obliterate not a wound of Entry but one of Exit.... all of course, in the interest of national security.



Humes refuses.

His notes and outline reflect conclusions reached by three doctors at autopsy ... the Back Wound's too low for a through-wound ... and it's not .... realizing he is out-striped in gold by one of his visitors,he has no choice but to obey orders.

He calls Perry; the light comes on and the Neck-Traverse takes its place in the autopsy report's revision. The pre-fired Carcano creeps into the limelight as CE 399.

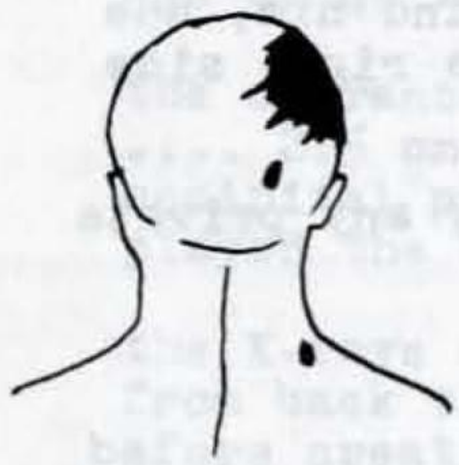
The Neck Wound is a wound of Entry; it is not a Back Wound despite the nomenclature of this ... I cannot refrain from calling it a three-ring circus, with only one act bearing any semblance of reality.



... the other bullet that struck Kennedy, the so-called "magic bullet", that was the first to hit Kennedy, and that also hit Texas Gov John Connally, was also fired from above and behind ....there was an "abraision collar" where this bullet entered the neck at the base of the President's neck, and this scorching and splitting of the skin... is proof that it entered from behind .... but its exit track was not immediately apparent ....

The second bullet, which actually was the first of the autopsy's wounding bullets, presented a real problem.

> ... there was a contusion of the extreme spical portion of the right upper lobe of the lung but no laceration. We also noted damage to the neck muscles, trachea and pleura, but there was no bullet ....

After the call next morning to Dr Perry, who told about his tracheostomy incision and the small 3x5mm wound he used as the locater,

> .... of course the bullet had exited through the neck ... [it] entered the right superior posterior thorax above the scapula and traversed the soft tissue of the supra-scapular and supra-clavicular portions of the base of the right side of the neck .... produced contusions of the right spical portion of the right upper lobe of the lung.... contused the strap muscles of the right side of the neck ...struck no bony structures in its path through the body ....

The Neck Wound of Entry, which is sometimes referred to as the Back Wound, was the result of Kennedy's being struck

If I seem to repeat myself occasionally, it is understandable on two counts, 1) thank you Marlene and 2) repetition seems to be the only way to get the autopsy report's truths across to some people.

> ....scientific data....provides irrefutable proof that President Kennedy was struck by only two bullets that came from above and behind ....

a small hole where it entered and a beveled crater where it exited .... that is what "J" and I found when we examined the President's skull ....always the pattern of through and through wounds of the cranium.... the bevelling or crater effect appears on the inside of the skull at the entrance wound and on the outside of the skull at the exit wound ....

we proved at the autopsy table that President Kennedy was struck from above and behind by the fatal shot.... his identifying features were all intact.... dead at the age of 46 with a terrible wound of the head ....

the entrance wound was elliptical 15mm long x 6mm wide .... 2.5 cm to the right and slightly above the external occipital protruberence ....the inside of the skull displayed the characteristic beveled appearance....

> the X-rays disclosed fine dustlike metallic fragments from back to front where the bullet traversed the head before creating an explosive exit wound on the right temporal-parietal area ....

> it blew out 13cm of skull, bone and skin .... two-thirds of the right cerebrum had been blown away .... inside of the skull was absolutely intact and beveled....

Private research has not accepted this beveled proof of the bullet's back-to-front traverse. As though the autopsy table never existed, as though the three autopsy doctors add up to one dunce, a third wound to the head, observed only at Parkland has been advanced as the exit wound of a second bullet to the head. Fired from where? as yet no wound of entry has been discovered.

President Kennedy died as the result of a single shot to the head fired from a point somewhat above and behind him, fired by person or persons unknown.

The Warren Commission was able to find the precise point, the rifle and the assassin.

The autopsy report's conclusion that the President's head wounds were caused by a bullet fired from above and behind can only be improved upon by correctly locating the bullet's point of origin.

The track thru the head, back to front, left to right 10° to center-line and upwards 12° to head's mid-plane, is a reasonable extension of a flightpath from TSBD window VI #14.

At Z-312 the left-turned, downward-inclined head has the wound of entry, 1/36th sec later, a little above the external occipital protruberance, at the top of the head. A tangential hit, the bullet traverses the very top part of the head. An inch higher would have been a miss.

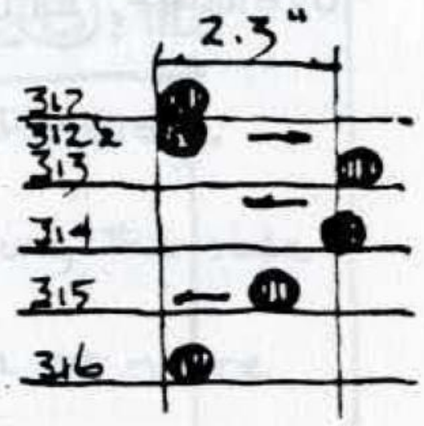
The snap-back everyone sees on Z-film after Z-313 is the equal and opposite reaction, the recoil to the snap-ahead between Z-312 and Z-313 which no one ever sees viewing the film as a movie.

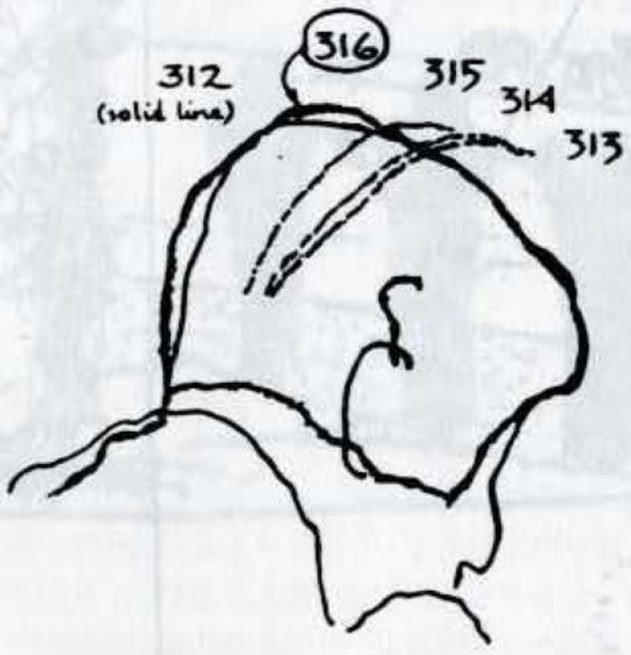


In 1965, when this double motion was discovered, using two projectors at the National Archives, quite naturally, if a bullet causes the forward motion, so a bullet causes the rearward motion.

So it was written and so it became gospel for all, for many, many years. Today change is in the air; the physical impossibility of a bullet causing the rearward motion back along the long axis of the limousine becomes apparent when second bullets to the head are seen entering it at right angles.

In 1966 two shots to the head spelled Conspiracy with a capital "C", which of course gave the lie to the Warren Report, the FBI and the CIA. The Secret Service fared little better. Support for but one shot to the head came from the establishment media and authors bolstering the Warren Report, All were correct; none knew why.

In 1972 Lattimer's experiments showed skulls falling backward toward the shooter. Cutler's ninth anniversary article for C&A was rejected because Crossfire 72 showed but one shot to the President's head. Explanatory text by engineers W Joy and W R Hooper were found wanting. Physicist L Alvarez' shooting at taped watermelons also sent them back toward the shooter. His explanation was the jet-effect of material exiting forward which caused the rearward motion.



In 1976, Itek's report to CBS, using the original Z-film finds no bullet causing the President's rearward motion. It found Mrs Kennedy's instinctive shove-away a contributory factor.

The action-reaction retrograde recoil, the moment-arm's counter-clockwise spin, the President's backbrace, the limousine's motion, the jet-effect, the shove-away combined with the neuro-muscular response advanced by the faithful, must all be apportioned for the correct answer. Two bullets is not correct.

In 1992 N Scott jr joined the ranks of the unfaithful, the first addition in sixteen years. Published authors' Goliath is faced by the single-shot's adherents' David. The slingshot comes in two parts, two firing positions behind the grassy knoll's stockade fence. →

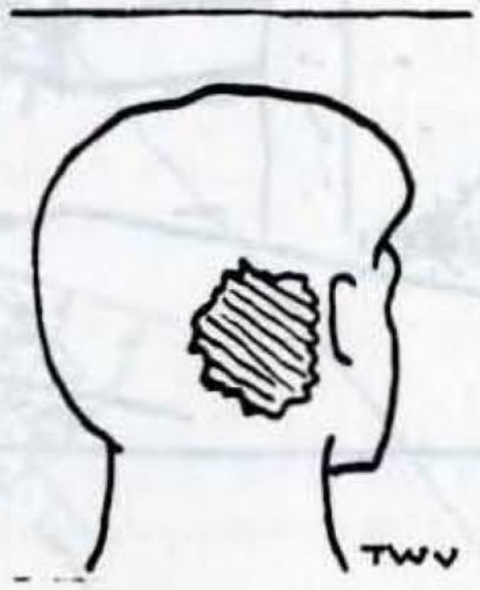
The third wound is not seen on Z-film. R Groden observed what he calls an avulsion to the back of the head around Z-330. It is an indication of the third wound's emergence.



After riding upside-down part way between Dealey Plaza and the hospital, the rear cranial plates opened up another wound. Loosened by the bullet's entry from above and behind, these plates took most of the force of the forward-exiting material's jet-effect. Small wonder this third wound was seen by many of Parkland's personnel. It was not seen by the doctors at autopsy.

Conclusions that this was a wound of exit only created confusion about timing and origin of the shot that inflicted this and its accompanying wound of entry.

From the south grassy knoll, from the overpass, from the storm sewer and from behind the stockade fence, the limousine's windshield, its side fixed window and the two Secret Service agents always seem to be in the way.

The best spot,from which,whatever it was,to enter the front of the head,was under Nellie Connally's jump-seat. It took into consideration the left-turned and inclined head.

Skull-duggery at Pre-Autopsy Surgery made certain this wound would never cause the autopsy doctors a moment's unease. If it's a piece of skull that needs to coverup an unexpected wound in a victim, never underestimate the capabilities of the Central Intelligence Agency. With an admiral at the chief autopsy doctor's elbow, any irregularities in the rear of the head were smoothed over ...no muss ... no fuss.

For his exposé of P-A S, Lifton deserves a medal. It defuses and clears up the inshoot-Parkland-Bethesda-X-ray-photos-outshoot brouhaha and focuses on the first set-f X-rays/photos taken before the body was delivered for formal autopsy.
